Paha Qué® ScreenRooms™ ensure bug-free outings; now available in three sizes

No one likes to have their outdoor family gathering spoiled by annoying bugs, a sudden rainstorm or wind, or even too much sun.

With the spacious new ScreenRooms from Paha Qué, these worries don't exist. These big rooms have generous peak heights, and the true vertical sidewalls dramatically increase the usable interior space. And they're made of true NO-SEE-UM grade mesh, not some inferior type with a fancy trade name, so they provide a great outdoor feeling — visibility and ventilation, combined with privacy.

All the way through, you'll find heavier and better fabrics: superior UV protection; and longer fabric life. That's why you should be wary of the imitations you may see. The ScreenRoom provides the same high performance you've come to expect from the Paha Qué line of quality tents at competitive prices. An optional rainfly can be purchased for complete waterproofing.

In addition to the large inside space, there are built-in awnings on all four sides to add significantly to the covered areas the first screen room to offer this feature. When not used as awnings, they can be rolled up, out of the way, or let down to protect exposed sides from rain, wind or excess sun.

Access is easy, with large front and back doors. All zippers are YBS® with corrosion-resistant nickel sliders. Poles are 6000 Series aluminum alloy, and continuous pole sleeves are much easier to set up no plastic hubs or other parts that break.

As with all Paha Qué Wilderness products, the new ScreenRoom is backed by our Limited Lifetime Warranty.

"...Friday evening the weather turned ugly with rain and wind and it lasted thru Saturday. We had as many as 10 people in the ScreenRoom at a time and it came thru like a champ. The wind couldn't knock down or tear it up and it kept the rain out. What a great product!"

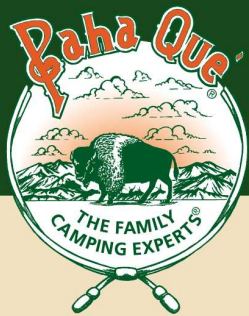

Dave Newhouse—Editor, Pop Up Times Magazine

"I recently purchased your Paha Qué ScreenRoom tent and I wanted you guys to know that I love it! The quality of the ScreenRoom is everything I was looking for. Happy Trails! Thanks"
